

CAUTION AGAINST FALSE AND MALICIOUS MISINFORMATION

Kenya Reinsurance Corporation is aware of individuals who are spreading false and misleading information on social media, intended to harm the image of the company and its leadership.

We have information to believe that these misguided individuals are collaborating with online extortionists to cast aspersions on policies and procedures that guide decision making within the organisation.

These extortionists have even resorted to sending intermediaries to pressure Kenya Reinsurance Corporation into complying with their demands for money so that the posts can be brought down. Kenya Reinsurance Corporation will not engage with them under any circumstances.

These actions are a violation of several laws. These include the Computer Misuse and Cybercrime Act <https://nc4.go.ke/the-computer-misuse-and-cyber-crimes-act-2018/>

This type of behaviour undermines our organisation and is in contravention of the Kenya Reinsurance Corporation code of conduct and ethics policy, clause 2.27 on moral and ethical requirements (pages 18-19), whose foundation is anchored in the Kenyan constitution, Articles 91(1)(b) and 193(1)(b).

These actions are completely baseless and without merit and we urge the staff, our stakeholders, customers, and the public in general to treat them with the contempt they deserve.

We urge the public to be vigilant and to disregard these falsehoods and to verify information through the established offices in the corporation.

Decisions within Kenya Reinsurance Corporation are guided by the established policies and procedures to foster a secure, positive, and productive work environment.
